Ispringen, November 4, 2025 – Kontron, the world's leading provider of IoT and embedded computing technology, recognizes the outstanding achievements of its long-standing partner, Rutronik, and awards the broadline distributor the title of "Best Motherboard Distributor" once again. Rutronik was also honored as "Top Sales Partner" this year.

Rutronik has once again been honored by Kontron with the prestigious award "Best Motherboard Distributor 2024". The company has also been recognized as the "Top Sales Partner 2025". These awards honor the long-standing, reliable, and successful partnership between the two companies. The embedded team, led by Mario Klug, Vice President Product Marketing Embedded & AI, and Anja Schaal, Senior Manager Product Marketing Boards & Storage, has impressed with its outstanding commitment, technical expertise, and ability to identify and implement market trends early on.

"Our collaboration with Kontron's motherboard team has been reliable for many years and is characterized by a high level of mutual trust," emphasizes Anja Schaal. "Our contact persons at Kontron are passionate and knowledgeable about their products, which makes our collaboration successful and special."

Kontron highlights how Rutronik has achieved continuous growth with "Made in Europe" motherboards, even during challenging market phases. "This performance, coupled with a strong customer focus and technical excellence, makes Rutronik the strongest distribution partner of the year once again," concludes Thomas Stanik, Kontron's Senior Sales & Business Development Manager.
